

NO NEWS WAS
BUT BAD NEWSSteamer Mount Royal May Have Foundered

NOT REPORTED TO-DAY

It Was Hoped That the Allen Liner
Hungarian Would Tow Her Into Portland Harbor, But She Hadt Sighted Her.

Portland, Me., Jan. 4.—The hope that the Allen liner Hungarian might be towing the steamer Mount Royal, which sailed from Antwerp December 6 for St. John and is now long overdue, was disappointed this morning when the Hungarian entered port here and the captain said that he had seen nothing of the missing liner. The Canadian Pacific officials say that unless the Mount Royal is heard from by Monday they will conclude that she has foundered with all on board.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 4.—No word has yet been received here of the Canadian Pacific liner steamer Mount Royal, which left Antwerp December 6 for St. John, having on board 304 immigrants, mostly Italians and Jews, besides a crew numbering more than 100.

The Mount Royal is not fitted with wireless apparatus, so that she could not communicate with any point from which she was not actually sighted.

One steamer captain yesterday gave it as his opinion that if the Mount Royal had broken her shaft, it was probable that she would have drifted out of the track of both eastbound and westbound steamers and that the currents would eventually carry her to some point in the vicinity of Bermuda.

Capt. Purcell is in command of the Mount Royal and A. Murray is chief engineer. The Canadian Pacific officials here have no list of the other officers or of the crew.

The Mount Royal, which was built at Newcastle, Eng., in 1898, registered 4,500 tons. She is 470 feet in length, 56 feet beam and 32 feet depth of hold.

DELAYED BY ICE FLOES.

Steamer Having Trouble in Trying to Reach Labrador.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 4.—The steamer Anita, bringing 300 refugees from Norway for the use of Dr. Wilbur F. Grenfell, the physician-missionary explorer, sought a harbor off the northern coast of Newfoundland yesterday. She was unable to reach her destination, St. Anthony, Labrador, where Dr. Grenfell maintains a hospital, owing to the prevalence of ice floes, in the midst of which she had a narrow escape from being sunk. She will make another attempt to-day, with the aid of a local pilot.

The reindeer are in excellent condition. Dr. Grenfell expects to use them extensively in his work in Labrador. He left St. John last night to join the Anita, and will remain during the winter at St. Anthony.

DIDN'T SIGHT STEAMER.

The Pomeranian Reaches Halifax and Has No Word of Mount Royal.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 4.—A feeling of depression in St. John's was manifested yesterday, when the Allen liner Pomeranian arrived from Harve without any tidings of the overdue Canadian Pacific liner Mount Royal, which left Antwerp early in December, bound for St. John's, N. B., with several hundred passengers on board. The Pomeranian covered nearly the same track as would have been taken by the Mount Royal, but saw no sign of the missing liner.

The Canadian Pacific officials here fear for the worst, although they say it is possible that the Mount Royal may have been heard from off the Irish coast.

Narrow Escape From Serious Time in
New York House Last Night—
One Child Burned.

New York, Jan. 4.—One hundred members of the Daughters of Liberty barely escaped with their lives last night when fire broke through Waverly hall, a four-story building of Brooklyn, on the top floor of which the Daughters were holding an entertainment. The family of the janitor occupied rooms at the rear of the fourth floor, and the mother, Gertrude Tesdell, and infant son, were caught by the flames. The child was burned to death, while the mother jumped from the window to the sidewalk and was instantly killed. The Daughters of Liberty lost their wraps, but managed to get to the fire escapes unharmed. The lower floors were occupied by business firms. The monetary loss was about $10,000.

The British biplane company came to this country about twenty-five years ago and settled in Thornton. A village was founded, all the people employed in the mills coming from England.

No More Curtailment.

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 4.—The Boot cotton mills, according to a statement of Treasurer Frederick A. Fisher, will not curtail its output further than has already been done. Certain parts of the machinery have been stopped since November, necessitating a reduction of the working force about 12½ per cent. The company has contracts ahead that will keep the rest of the force busy.

THE PLAN MADE PUBLIC.

Westinghouse Machine Company Receives
Reply May Be Dissolved.

Pittsburg, Jan. 4.—A plan was made public here yesterday whereby the receivership of the Westinghouse Machine company may be dissolved and the business of the company restored to the stockholders. There appears no question of a doubt but that the plan will be successful.

The arrangement contemplates that the company shall issue three-year 7 per cent. notes for its existing indebtedness. These notes are to be secured by the company's bonds at 85 per cent. of their face value as collateral and are to be in denominations of $500 or multiples thereof. Claims of less than $1,000 are to be paid in cash. On items exceeding $1,000, the creditor will receive three-year 6 per cent. notes to the amount of the nearest multiple of $500 that is not in excess of the claim, the balance being paid in cash.

It is further agreed that the company will not pay any dividends to its stockholders until provision has been made for the payment of all the notes outstanding. The members of the creditor's committee includes Frederick S. Moseley of Boston.

OPERATIVES DEFY
THE MILL OWNERS

Say That Time For Striking Is Most Opportune in England and They Will Stand By Oldham Strikers.

Manchester, Eng., Jan. 4.—Representatives of 200,000 cotton mill operatives here and at nearby manufacturing towns replied today definitely to the owners' threat of a lockout unless the employees in the two strike-bound establishments at Oldham return to work on January 10. The spinners say that the wage dispute which caused the Oldham operatives to quit was common, and now is as good a time as any to fight to a finish. They say that the curtailment in American mills promises well for English concerns and that the time is opportune for a prolonged labor trouble.

GOOD WORDS FOR LATROS.

Leading Men Testify in Behalf of Lowell's Accused Greek.

Boston, Jan. 4.—The defense was presented in the case of Michael Iatros, former Greek consul at Lowell, charged with having conspired to bring aliens into the country in contravention of the law, in the United States district court yesterday before Judge Dodge, and the evidence being practically all in the case was continued to next Tuesday.

Iatros took the stand in his own behalf yesterday and denied in general practically all the evidence given against him by John C. Simonyannis, who is on trial with him and has pleaded guilty and turned government witness.

Iatros declared he was 42 years old, born near Athens, studied medicine in Naples, Athens, Paris and Madrid, and came to the United States in 1893, first securing work in the Lowell cotton mills. He became vice-consul in 1901, has taught languages in the evening schools, was immigration interpreter, and is a present editor of a paper in Lowell. He denied having in any way had anything to do with securing entrance into this country for young Simonyannis.

Mrs. Iatros was also on the stand, and several witnesses testified to the reputation of Iatros, including Commissioner G. B. Billings, Deputy Commissioner Hurley and Senator George H. Hibbard. Superintendent of Schools Whitney and School Committee men Schwab, and Dr. Antonio Brahms, all of Lowell.

ASSAILANT GOT BUT $16

She Was Struck Down From Behind and
Was Found by a Milkman Early
This Morning—She Died in Hospital.

Greenville, R. I., Jan. 4.—Miss Mary Eddy, aged 40 years, was murdered last night for $16 in wages she had just drawn from the woolen mills. She was found this morning by a milkman in a lonely stretch near her home. She was still breathing then but died shortly after at the hospital. The skull was fractured and it was evident that she was struck from behind with a billet of wood or some blunt instrument.

Miss Eddy was the first employee of the mill to draw her pay. She started for her home, a half a mile away, at 5 o'clock. When she was within about 200 yards of her door she was struck down. The only clew to the robber is the club, which came from the mill yard.

GIRL HAD DIED HUGGING DOLLY.

Set Herself Afire While Getting Treasure to Show to Neighbor.

New York, Jan. 4.—This is the story of a little girl and her doll. The name of the little girl was Nanama Leone, and she lived with her mother at 103 Richmond avenue, Wakefield.

She had prayed to Santa Claus to bring her a dolly, and when she found it on Christmas morning she was very happy.

When Nanama's mother put on her hat and coat to visit the old grocery woman in the next block, Nanama wanted to take the doll along with her. But her mother said she must leave it at home.

The old grocery woman entered into Nanama's enthusiasm to such an extent that Nanama was sure it would be a delight to her aged friend to see her beautiful dolly. So Nanama stole out of the house to go to her home to get the treasure. When she reached home she went to the bedroom, where she had placed the doll underneath the bed. The bedroom was dark and Nanama got out the matches and struck one so she could see better. When she found her beloved she let the match fall on the floor lighted. Soon there was such a glare that Nanama was frightened and then she looked at her dress and found it was aflame.

When Nanama's mother missed her she hurried home. She found Nanama and the dolly on the floor.

And with a wild cry she picked Nanama up and kissed and kissed her and cried and cried as if her heart would break. But the girl was dead.

LUMBER DEALERS
SWINDLED BY WOMAN

A Mrs. Balch Who Kept Boarding House
Near Ludlow Is Said to Have Been Prime Mover in Scheme.

Rutland, Jan. 4.—It has become known that Billado & Blanchard of this city, lumbermen, are the victims of a swindle of considerable proportion in which the prime mover is alleged to be a Mrs. Balch, who kept a boarding house at a mill between Horshamville and Ludlow, formerly conducted by the firm. The mill was burned to the ground some time ago but the machinery was not entirely destroyed. The machinery was not removed from the ruins at the time of the fire and, it is alleged, that a few weeks ago the woman, who had no connection whatever with the firm, decided to turn the iron to some account and to get this cashed at the Ludlow Bros. of Springfield. It is said that the damaged machinery was worth several hundred dollars and that she received less than quarter of its value.

It is claimed that the woman received in payment a check which she had made out to a fictitious person. An attempt to get this cashed at the Ludlow Bros. failed but the woman finally got her money on the check through a Ludlow carpenter who acted in good faith in the matter.

In the meanwhile Goldberg Bros. had dismantled the machinery and drawn out of it away. Blanchard & Blanchard tried to effect a settlement with them. A despatch from Ludlow yesterday stated that no arrest had yet been made in the case although one is expected.

Recently.

Rutland, Jan. 4.—Policeman Erza Deragon of this city, who was recently suspended from service because of a breach of discipline, has been asked by Mayor R. L. Richmond for his resignation, which will take effect at once. When Deragon was let off by the chief of police, Mayor Richmond told the officer that he would be given 10 days' trial, and would be reinstated at the end of that time if his conduct warranted it. The 10 days' period has expired and the city executive has decided that Deragon is to remain in the force.

To save compensation, a policeman's resignation is placed in the mayor's hands at the time of his appointment, so that all Deragon has to do is to sign it.

VERY SMALL
LOSS BY FIREIn Twelve Months Only
$1380. in Barre

DEPARTMENT HAD 37 CALLS

Only a Single Blaze of Size and in That the Loss Was Less Than $1,000—
A Remarkably Good Record.

Although property to the amount of $174,000 was endangered in the 37 times that the Barre fire department was called out last year, the total loss was only $1,380.21, making the average loss per fire of $37.30. This is easily the lowest fire loss in fifteen years. The insurance companies paid $1,330.21 of the loss, leaving just $50 for the property owners to stand for. The total amount of insurance carried on the property endangered was $168,500.

Of the 37 calls for the fire department, nine were bell alarms and 28 still alarms. The largest single loss was at the residence of Fred L. Page on French street, April 29, the amount being $906.90. The other individual losses were so small that they scarcely deserve mention, but the larger ones are these: John Crowley's house, corner George and Center streets, October 29, $175.20; John Marchant's house, Pleasant street, June 19, $90.80; Mrs. J. W. Nichols, South Main street, $15; Relat Granite company, February 9, $30; G. B. Durfee estate, $14.

The causes of the calls were as follows: chimneys burning, 18; sparks from engine, 3; out of limits calls, 3; overheated stovepipe, 2; and one each for these, thawing frozen air pipe, burning waste paper in cellar, overturning oil stove, overheated stove, spark from chimney on roof, lightning, caught from baker, mistaking gasoline for kerosene, burning straw under porch, escaping steam mistaken for smoke, friction of belt, and one probably incendiary.

The paid fire department is now in good condition. Chief Gladding and four others are on duty at the central station regularly, and one other call man sleeps at the station, while one man stays at the Blackwell street station nights. There are, in addition, the regular force of call men who respond to the general alarm.

In this connection, it is interesting to note an opinion expressed from an expert at that. During his visit of inspection here a few weeks ago, Charles E. Danforth, secretary of the Massachusetts Mutual Fire Insurance union, stated that he hadn't visited a city in New England that had since such a marked improvement in general conditions as to fire department as Barre. He said that the fire department itself, Mr. Danforth was here five years ago and made an inspection. His opinion was unqualified and carries the more weight therefore. He spoke highly of Chief Gladding's work.

Comparisons of the fire losses in Barre with those in other cities in the state show that Montpelier had about $20,000, mostly confined to large fires, and Burlington with 90 calls had a loss of $16,581, one of the smallest losses in that city's history. Montpelier's figures are due principally to the destruction of the downtown property of the Montpelier & Wells River railroad and damage to the Baptist church. The others were comparatively small.

HORSE SHED "WAR"
STIRS UP SPIRIT

Owners of the Old Sheds in Rear of Methodist Church Want to Get Into Them, But Are Barred by Gates.

The old horse sheds between the Methodist church property and the lively stable of H. E. Cutler of Washington street are the bone of contention just at present, and the "chewing" is quite lively. The land on which the sheds, about ten in number, rest was the property of the Congregational church until about a year ago, when the society sold them to Mr. Cutler. The sheds were purchased and he paid $1,000. The shed owners had paid an annual rental of five dollars. Along last summer Mr. Cutler sent notice to the owners to leave the sheds removed by the first of January, 1908.

When January 1 swung around, the sheds had not been removed, and so Mr. Cutler caused a gate to be placed at the entrance to the land and the gate to be locked, so that there was no admittance to the owners of the sheds. These latter held a meeting to-day at the office of Attorney E. R. Davis, at which the situation was discussed quite freely.

The sheds were in the first place owned by attendants of the Congregational churches when, like all country places, Barre's churches had accommodations for out-of-town people who drove in for church services on Sunday and for business on week days. Later, however, the sheds have for the most part fallen into the hands of other, generally farmers, who found them convenient for stabling their horses when they were in the city on business.

It is possible that the railroad will be asked to change the location of the station so as to remove the possibility of accident.
